

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Tuesday, October 21

1997

ISO 9000 Preassessment Audit Under Way at Marshall Center

National Quality Assurance registrars are performing a preassessment audit of the Center Tuesday through Friday. It is a key step in Marshall's ISO 9000 initiative. The four-member team is headed by Lead Registrar Lee Bravener. The purpose of the audit is to check how well the Center is doing as it prepares for an official audit in February. The registrars will randomly select areas to audit to gauge the Center's general level of preparedness.

Employees, Contractors Offered Free Flu Shots 12 - 2 p.m. Thurs.

Civil service employees and on-site contractors may receive free flu vaccinations noon - 2 p.m. Thursday at the Marshall Medical Center. Vaccinations will be offered again noon - 2 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 28.

MSFC Historian to Lecture At Main Library 7 p.m. Wed.

Mike Wright, Marshall historian, will present "The History of Rocketry" 7 - 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Huntsville-Madison County Public Library. The lecture is free and open to the public. It is sponsored by the Huntsville L-5 Society, a chapter of the National Space Society. Contact: Ronnie Lajoie, 461-3064.